The image on the cover, from Figure 3B in Gárate et al. (pages 32–43, in this issue), shows toll-like receptor 4 (TLR-4) immunoreactivity in the prefrontal cortex of C3H/HeN mice in stress conditions. The neurons, in green, are identified with NeuN, and TLR-4 is shown in red. The authors found that TLR-4 is expressed in neurons, microglia, and astroglia, both in control and after stress exposure conditions.
